

Dear ROCK Friends and Family,

It is with deep gratitude that I am writing to you for supporting ROCK through a very challenging year. None of us could have imagined last July what the 2019-2020 fiscal year held in store for the world and the decisions we would face together.

Our year started out well, with ROCK providing equine-assisted activities and therapies to more families than before and planning for an expansion to support Healing Thru Horses. We enjoyed a fall and winter full of successful events including some of the largest group volunteer days in recent memory. Filming also began on "Where the Horses Heal the Soul," an upcoming documentary by Twila LaBar that highlights the stories of four ROCK participants. Two of ROCK's own were even recognized at the PATH Intl. Annual Conference and Meeting in Denver, CO.

Planning for the annual April Barn Dance was well under way when ROCK was forced to temporarily close its campus and postpone special events at the end of March as the COVID-19 pandemic spread across the U.S. During this time of uncertainty, I am humbled and grateful to say that ROCK was able to preserve all our staff positions and reopen in June thanks to the wisdom and support of our board members and generous supporters.

What the past year has taught me the most is the importance of gratitude, grace, COURAGE, and resilience. I am so grateful for the support of ROCK's families, ROCKateers, staff, board members and incredibly generous donors. You have stood alongside the horse through twenty-two years to lift up individuals to their next level of potential. Your willingness to sidewalk along these families, horses, and ROCK is what enables us to continue forward. YOU ROCK!

I hope you enjoy this annual report that highlights what we achieved last year as well as the fiscal responsibilities of your investments in ROCK. It is because of your courage and determination ROCK will continue to thrive in the upcoming months and years. Thank you.

Blessings and Courage,

Duc Knenek

HUNTER & DOC'S STORY

This past year ROCK celebrated the achievements of two members of our family at the PATH Intl. Conference and Annual Meeting in Denver, CO. ROCK participant Hunter Adkins was recognized with the Adult Equestrian of the Year award and current board president Patrick "Doc" Breen was honored as PATH Intl. and Region 8 Veterinarian of the Year.

ROCK staff nominated these individuals who then went on to win at the Regional level before moving on to national judging. Hunter and Doc's recognition at the highest level represents the excellence, compassion, integrity, safety, and honor that ROCK strives to instill in everyone who comes through our gates.

Hunter is a 38-year-old woman who has been riding at ROCK for many years. She began riding in Houston and continued her journey to gain independence and life skills here at ROCK with her equine partner, Fiona. "When I am on my horse, I am free," she says about riding at ROCK. Hunter serves on the Texas Council for Developmental Disabilities to advocate for beneficial legislation and to make recommendations on accessibility and other issues facing those with disabilities. She has even met with Governor Greg Abbott as part of her advocacy work.

Doc has been involved with ROCK for the past twenty years and has been a donor, sidewalker, horse handler, veterinarian, board member, meal cooker for veterans, auctioneer, professor at Texas A&M, and all-around friend. Doc says the reason he has stayed so involved in ROCK is the unique and profound benefits of equine-assisted activities and therapies for participants with a wide array of diagnoses.
